Dear Parents and Carers of Reception children,

I am writing with regards the upcoming trip to the London Aquarium.

I understand that there have been some concerns raised regarding the arrangements for the trip so I would like to take this opportunity to address these.

The trip has been planned to link closely to the current learning theme and the teachers have taken the decision to visit the London Aquarium so that the children have the best learning experience they can for this part of their learning journey.

The children will be travelling by public transport for two reasons. Firstly, the journey on public transport is a key part of their personal and social development. Secondly, it means that the trip is affordable to all families.

I can assure you that the children will be more than adequately supervised, both during travelling times and at the Aquarium, with a large number of adults supporting on the trip. Unfortunately, it is not possible to take all of you, so a first come, first served system will be applied. If you are not selected to support on this trip, then you will be considered for future trips during your child’s time at Royal Park.

It is entirely your decision as to whether you grant permission for your child to attend the school trip. If it is your decision not to do so, a place in an alternative year group will be arranged for that day and work will be set for him/her to complete.

I hope this reassures you if you had any concerns about this event.

Yours sincerely

Mr Moss
